Welcome!

FREE Entry

We're proud guardians of our founders' intention, inscribed on the outside of The Harris 'The mental riches you may here acquire abide with you always.'

Edmund Harris' vision was that the Harris Free Library, Museum, and Art Gallery would be the focal point of culture, the arts, and learning in our city. And today that still stands true.

We're here to serve as a cultural hub, bringing together communities and promoting creativity and learning through exhibitions, events, resources and spaces. We celebrate the diversity of Preston and beyond, and make culture accessible to all free of charge.

We're an inclusive and welcoming environment where people of all ages and backgrounds can come together and experience the richness of arts, culture and knowledge, explore new ideas and connect with a community.

Come and explore. Be curious. Take part. Share stories. Be inspired. This is your Harris.

Nostalgic Views of Preston

An exhibition by Edwin Williams

Following a rewarding career as an Engineer, HR Manager, and Quality Manager, Edwin Williams has turned a lifelong interest in photography, watercolour painting and history into a new chapter of creative exploration.

Now retired, Edwin finds great fulfilment in helping individuals and institutions including museums to connect with both social and personal histories, by aligning archival photographs and his watercolour paintings with the narratives that give them deeper meaning.

Edwin breathes new life into aged and often damaged photographs, transforming them into vivid representations that resonate with modern audiences while honouring their original context.

Watercolour painting has been Edwin's passion for over 65 years. Throughout this journey, he has found endless joy in exploring the fluid, translucent qualities of the medium.

There's a unique magic in the way watercolour allows colours to blend and flow, creating both subtle nuances and bold expressions of emotion. It's a balance between control and spontaneity, where each brushstroke holds the potential for unexpected beauty.

The photographs, paintings and stories included within this exhibition will spark memories, conversation and inspiration, and perhaps inspire you to explore your own creative journey.

The World of Martin Brown

Horrible Histories* and Other Dazzling Drawings

Get ready for a display of cartoons and art by best-selling children's book illustrator Martin Brown!

Martin Brown is among the most accomplished cartoonists of his generation. Since 1993, Martin has illustrated Horrible Histories, working with author Terry Deary to create one of the best-loved series of children's books ever published.

Underpinning all his work is Martin's wish to use the power of illustration to entertain and educate, and his belief that everyone should pick up a pencil and draw.

Visitors will journey through Brown's artistic world, tracing his career from his early humorous cartoons to global publishing successes. Original art from Horrible Histories, illustrations from Lesser Spotted Animals, and exclusive content from his latest books, including Nell and the Cave Bear, bring Brown's imagination vividly to life.

The World of Martin Brown: Horrible Histories and Other Dazzling Drawings is an exhibition from Seven Stories, The National Centre for Children's Books, developed by the South West Heritage Trust in collaboration with Martin Brown and Events of Wonder.

The Problem Lies Upstream

Nerissa Cargill Thompson explores environmental issues like climate crisis, plastic pollution and waste through textile art using recycled materials, particularly old clothing, and mixed-media sculptures of textiles and concrete cast in the plastic packaging that we use and discard on a daily basis. She aims to make people consider the world around them and their responsibility to the environment.

Horrockses Fashions

Everyday Glamour and the Art of British Ready-to-Wear

Celebrating the 80th anniversary of the iconic label, this exhibition reveals how Horrockses combined couture principles with high-quality cotton textiles to redefine accessible elegance for women from mill workers to royalty. Through vibrant floral prints, innovative textile collaborations and a commitment to craftsmanship, Horrockses not only shaped 1950s fashion but also reflected and influenced changing ideas of femininity and women's roles in post-war Britain.
